Report of School Board.

According to a long established custom we will give a brief report of the schools for the year 1895.

We will not try and analyze each school and give the particulars in detail, and the various good or bad features of the several schools for they may be found in each district as they are also found in each person of the various districts, but we do feel that the schools as a whole although not perfect, are on the march in the right direction.

The teachers, with one exception, were old and tried ones, and present an able, earnest and efficient corps, that we may well be proud of, and may feel that they were not overpaid for their ardent and zealous labor. A poor teacher is overpaid at any price.

The attendance has been excellent as may be expected when teachers and parents are in earnest for the moral and intellectual advancement of the scholars. The Roll of Honor speaks well for the schools.

The parental visitations have not been as many and as often as might be desired, for in them is an element of strength and help for the teacher, but this is no new thing.

There has been some changes in text-books. The Language Lessons for Grammars. The adding of Histories for primary and intermediate classes, also a large addition of Physiologies showing the effects of alcohol and narcotics on the human system.

We think it would be well to either exchange the present Readers or add new ones to these, in order to awaken a new interest in reading, which we believe is of great importance in our Schools.

Our school buildings are now in good fair order. The Great

Rock School house having been repaired the present season. A coat of paint inside and out would improve the house at East Sandwich.

We have placed modern seats in the Center Grammar school which we think is money well invested and hope to see the same change in other school houses.

Allow us one word in closing. While the hard times may embarrass us, let us not lessen our support of the Common Schools, the vital breath of the nation.

DANIEL D. ATWOOD,

FRANK H. PERKINS.
